MODIMOLLE - THE GATEWAY TO WONDER-FILLED THE WATERBERG

Formerly known as Nylstroom, the town history of Modimolle goes back to 1860, when a group of Voortrekkers, (emigrant pioneers, mainly Dutch, who left farms, primarily in the Eastern Cape, to seek greener pastures inland), known as the Jerusalem Trekkers, left the Cape Colony with one intent: to find the Holy Land. A long trek at best, the group finally reached a stream close to what they mistook for a ruined pyramid and, convinced they had found the Nile, settled along its banks – some 10 000 kilometres short of their proposed destination.

The 'pyramid' turned out to be little more than a natural hillock that the locals called Thaba ya Modimolle, (meaning: the spirit of the forefather has eaten), or Kranskop as it is more commonly known, and the river, which they called the Nyl, is a tributary of the Mogalakwena River.

Until today Kranskop is regarded as holy by local people and is said to have inspired the architect Gerard Moerdijk whilst designing the Voortrekker Monument in the city of Pretoria.

The Dutch Reformed Church that the people of Nylstroom then built in 1889, is now the oldest church in sub-Saharan Africa, North of Pretoria.

Despite the rather humble beginnings, Modimolle today functions as a major support town of the Waterberg Biosphere and the farming community of the area. Its wide streets and myriad shops form a gateway to the bushveld terrain of the Waterberg Biosphere.

Local nature reserves, game reserves and wilderness areas attract wildlife and nature lovers all year round, the clusters of trees, shrubs and the beauty of the Waterberg forms a perfect backdrop for city dwellers to seek "down time".

There are several guesthouses located at Koro Creek Golf Estate, and the restaurant at the Club House offers a great menu for light meals. Castle de Wildt, on the outskirts of Modimolle, is without a doubt one of the most wonderful venues for weddings, conferences or exhibitions.

With plenty of retail outlets, you will find all you need at Modi Mall. Please enjoy your visit to Modimolle and remember to stop for your favourite Wimpy Coffee and burger before you hit the N1 to take you home.

The Dutch Reformed Church Waterberg was established in 1859.

Kranskop is an iconic landmark of Modimolle
